PLANTATION GARDENS

Herb Growers

Route 2, Lynchburg, Virginia

R. R. SHAW, LIBRARIAN
U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE
LIBRARY.
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

Our garden gates are always hospitably open to herb visitors. Our new display garden is constructed in the eighteenth century manner. Enclosed within an old-brick serpentine wall, the Knot Garden section is interesting to Herb Fanciers. The Italian marble statue and ancient urns, adorning this formal replica, are alluring to admirers of antiquities. Visitors will see specimens of magnificent English and American boxwood—some of the largest in this country.

We try to fill seed orders promptly but early spring orders are doubly helpful to you as well as to the grower because late ones may be unavoidably delayed. Fall seed orders are filled from the current season's crop as our DATED packets verify. Plants are shipped as early in the spring or fall as your location and the season allows. Remember that cool weather is a big advantage in having plants ship well. We assume no responsibility for seed crop failures or for plant losses beyond our control. Any errors we make in filling orders will be cheerfully rectified, so please notify us at once.

Bruce and Eleanor Chalfin (Mr. and Mrs. B. G.)

Herb seeds from Plantation Gardens are fresh, clean and true to name. We offer the biggest and best variety of any grower raising and selling their own herb seed in America. Herb plants we sell are the quality we ourselves would wish to receive. What more can any gardener desire?
